FARMVILLE

Our people are all talking about the Exposition and will no doubt as a general thing attend. The real estate agents are looking for an influx of land buyers, and are much better prepared to handle them than Norfolk seems to be to handle the ministers expected there. I fear this will be the only cause of complaint against the management of the Exposition. Fortunately there is a wide expanse of water at hand and numberless crafts will be ready to cleave its bosom with their keel. There is no Virginian who does not wish for the venture a brilliant success.

The rattle of the ice-wagon is heard on our streets again. A few years ago and all the ice used in Farmville was packed in Farmville ice-houses, but this custom has been abandoned, and now it is sold by the pound from the passing wagons. Wonderful changes are being witnessed in this old world of ours.

The Farmville Building Company has been a brilliant success, and while makes money for its stockholdere, has been building homes for others. No better work was ever done for any community. Philadelphia is essentially a city of homes and the building associations have been at the bottom of it. It is right hard to get together $1,000 at one time, but by regularly paying $10 a month the thousand mark is soon reached.

It is a subject of general regret that continued ill health has forced the Rev. Mr. Harte, pastor of the Baptist Church, to resign the charge. Mr. Harte had been here but a short time but long enough to win a warm place in the affections, not only of his own charge, but of all those who have been privileged to know him. It is said that he will try the climate of Arizona for a season.

Rev. H. Tucker Graham, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, will go as a delegate to the General Assembly of his church which meets in Birmingham, Ala. this month.

The Episcopalians haven't as yet called a rector to succeed Mr. Claiborne, but the pulpit of the church has been regularly supplied Sunday by Sunday and most acceptably.

The Church privileges of Farmville are excellent and ours is a church going people.

Our Farmville born boys, as a general thing are sticking to the town as they grow to manhood. The late H. E. Warren was in his day the leading and most successful merchants of Farmville. At his death Col. C. M. Walker, a son-in-law, fell heir to the business, and now that he is dead his two sons, Messrs. Warren and J. J. Walker are in charge. Mr. R. H. Paulett in association with Mr. Chas. Bugg is doing business in the store of his honored father, the late R. S. Paulett, who was not only a successful merchant, but the kindly neighbor, the good citizen, and the exemplary christian. Clyde Duvall is connected in business with his father, and this is true of Max Roberson, Fred Bugg, "Sym" Walton and Verser. Mr. W. G. Venable was cashier of the Planters Bank for well nigh forty years and now his son, Mr. W. P. Venable, occupies the same position. Capt. E. Scott Martin was associated with his father until recently and now has opened a general insurance office. Mr. Elliott Booker, grandson of the late Col. R. A. Booker, is permanently located here, while Paulett & Son are together in charge of the largest china and glass ware store in all this section. W. T. Doyne is and has been for years in charge of the business which was established by his father, the late John Doyne. The Eramburt brothers are still here, and so are the descendants of the late Henry Jenkins, the sturdy blacksmith and man of sterling worth. Dr. Richard Spencer has taken the place of his honored father, the storehouse of the late E. Wiltse is occupied by his only son. Mr. H. E Barrow has his boy with him and no doubt children's children of those who now live or later here will occupy the same stores and engage in like business. When I know how loyal Farmvillians are to Farmville, the wonder to me is that the town hasn't grown in population much more rapidly.

Rev. Mr. Hatcher has been conducting a successful revival at Crewe.

Rev. Mr. Graham preached a strong sermon on foreign Missions on last Sunday.

Mrs. R. B. Tuggle, who has been visiting in Washington and Baltimore, is at home again.

A goodly number of our people attended the opening of the Exposition.

It is a little remarkable, if not altogether shameful, that the Board of Supervisors for the County of Prince Edward should refuse to make an appropriation for a summer Normal to be held in Farmville, when Buckingham contributed $100 and other sister counties substantial sums. "The gods help those who help themselves." Picked members of the Normal faculty will have charge of the school and the advantages will be of the finest sort. No better buildings could have been selected for the purposes.

Mr. H. E. Wall has announced his candidacy as member of the Board of Supervisors from this district. He would make an ideal member.

Mr. W. J. Cox and bride have been visiting in town.

Mrs Dr. Gills has returned from Asheville, N. C.

Messrs. Duvall, Son & Co. lost some $1,500 by the recent fire at their storage room.

The Farmville base ball boys are making a good record during the season. "Play ball" is in the air.

"Aunt" Mary Bland, the oldest colored woman in town, is dead. She was a noted cook in her day.

At a recent meeting of farmers which was held at Rice, enthusiasm ran high. Mr. E. T. Bondurant lives near there and his enthusiasm is contagious.

Judge Handley in the appointment of a Commissioner of the revenue will have a long list of good men to select from. Friends of aspirants are profuse in their recommendations, and every man's man is "best man."

Miss Thompson, of Bluefield, W. Va., is honor girl of this years graduating class at the Normal, and all those who have been privileged to know him. It is said that he will try the climate of Arizona for a season.

It must be admitted that Mr. Taft has a handicap in having to carry son-in-law Nick.

Good Words for Chamberlain's Cough Syrup.

People everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips of Barclay, Md., writes: "I wish to say that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl, Catherine, who is two years old, has had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a dreadful cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever."

Mr. W. T. Stead further compliments the peace situation by declaring that American women have no style.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

There is probably no medicine made that is relied upon with more implicit confidence than Chamberlain's Colic, cholera and diarrhoea Remedy. During the third terms of a century in which it has been in use, people have learned that it is the one remedy that never fails. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable, Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

The Loving-Estes case, of Nelson, has been the subject of conversation here for the past week. The Loving family of this county are said to be relatives of Judge Loving. Moore, Strode and Lee will defend Loving, an able team of lawyers this.

Rev. John Spencer says he was misquoted when it was said he would vote against his own son, who is the Republican nominee for Treasurer. Mr. Spencer yields to no one in his allegiance to the Democratic party, and has no opinion (Politically speaking) of an independent candidate.

B. F. Shoemaker, a nominee of the Republican party for Constable of this district, told me he has no ides of being a candidate; and I hear that Mr. C. D. Agee, another nominee (for Supervisor), says he will not run. Judge Hall and Judge Moss are the only candidates I hear mentioned as wanting the Democratic nomination for the Legislature, but two of the Richmond papers printed an interview with Mr. Paul McRae in which he mentions Mr. G. W. Patteson as a probable aspirant.

Before this letter is published the County Committee will have decided on the plan of holding the primary.

Mr. A. J. Bondurant is not a candidate for the nomination for the Senate, and Senator Patteson being out of the race, Buckingham is not likely to offer a candidate.

Whip-poor-Will

There is a lone mysterious bird,
That few have seen but all have heard,
Go, perched upon a fallen tree,
He sings all night and thus sings he,
Whip-poor-Will, Whip-poor-Will.

How gladly I this bird would be,
From worldly cares and folly free,
To hide 'neath some distant wood,
And sing all night in solitude
Whip-poor-Will, Whip-poor-Will.

I'd join in my all tears and care,
All heartaches in the moonlit air,
Would sing till all vexation fled
Away, so do whenever, foll notes.

Death of Elmer H. Akers.

On last Tuesday evening, May 7, Concord was more shocked than ever before in late history, as she faced the sad news that the great Death Angel had rushed in our midst and claimed as its own our dear and beloved friend, Elmer H. Akers. That one friend in whom all was well pleased. He has been employed in the general office of the Norfolk and Western Ry., since 1903, and was taken sick with typhoid fever about the middle of March, and continued to grow worse until at its last stage. Only a few weeks ago it was thought he was getting better, but the fever settled on his lungs, went into pneumonia, and he began rapidly to grow worse and all the skill and wisdom of his physicians proved fruitless and the pronounced his case at being the most mysterious in all their experience. Last week he called his mother to his bedside, and friends, she called his little brother and sister, but at 4 o'clock, just thirty minutes before they arrived, death touched his heart and opened the door into a brighter world.

The history of this young man's life would serve a model for any growing youth. He was a boy who won the true and lasting affection of all with whom he became acquainted; one to whom bad habits were strangers, and enemies he never made; an active member of the Calvary Baptist Church in Roanoke and a true young Christian gentleman.

He is survived by a mother and a father, one brother, Will Akers, and one little sister, Louise, left to mourn his departure. Just four months ago he visited here enjoying the best of health, but now is taken away to faith in the mysteries of the Most High. He was but 19 years of age just in the prime of life; but Him who doeth all things well, reached forth his loving hand, touched down and kissed together the eyes and as a blooming flower, plucked him from his earthly bower, to one away and dwell amid that heavenly throne and there fragrance the presence of Jesus.

At 5 o'clock Thursday evening he was sweetly laid to rest in Fairview Cemetery, Roanoke. The display of flowers of every description was beautiful and magnificent, for he had reared a reputation among all with whom he associated, and his departure will put to grief the many friends wherever his death is pronounced.

Oh! dear mother, father, little sister and little brother, weep not for that dear boy, remember he is parted from us to go where pain and anguish shall no more wring the brow, where the "wicked cease from troubling and the weary shall find rest." True, it is our loss, but Heavens smiling gain. Rejoice that somelay, somewhere, we shall greet him on that Golden Shore.
